

I am opposed to the loosening of the restrictions on media ownership. I feel that it is the governments duty to look after the public interest which is not allowing very large companies to control even more of the media. The concentration of media is antithetical to an open democratic society.